

MESH Network Telemedicine

Welcome to the online possibilities for testosterone replacement therapy (TRT) regimens.

People have extremely busy and time-consuming lives, and finding time to locate a quality, experienced, and personable physician is often frustrating.

We bring our quality and experience to you from the 'world of clicks'. Our main providers have dealt with sexual health issues and practiced the highest quality TRT for decades.

Payments to MESH Network through PayPal are extremely safe, and you also have the convenient option of breaking down the payments into more manageable pieces if needed. Other online TRT providers charge anywhere between $1,650 - $3,200 per year, and these frequently do not include labs and supplies which cost extra (up to $600/year). Higher end providers charge $399/month. MESH charges significantly less and provides significantly more in-depth services.

Most commonly with other online sources the patient only speaks with the provider initially and support staff from then on. Our providers actually enjoy the process of interacting with patients, and they are the most common contact point for patients. Our 'cadillac' TRT programs include all necessary supplies, shipping, and frequent one-on-one interactions with the actual responsible provider. We use LabCorp, and there is always near you for convenience for the labs as well.

Low Testosterone

If you are interested in determining your potential of having low testosterone and seeking treatment, just visit www.meshnetwork.expert and follow the website path to TRT. You will find excellent questionnaires for lowT scoring tools to assist you. You will find an excellent summarization for evaluation and treatment of lowT. We believe in treating and resolving patients' symptoms, not just their numbers. There is a difference.

To schedule a video consultation with one of our physicians, call the number provided or send us an email. Most of our appointment availability is in the evenings because our providers are still full-time practicing docs. These times are typically more convenient for busy people; it doesn't interrupt your day. There is frequently some weekend availability as well. We want to make it convenient for you. Video visits usually take less than 30 minutes. Currently the consults are $$ FREE $$. They will soon increase to $100 per consult because our usual slots are almost filled to capacity and we will have to add even more providers than we have now.

During your video visit your doctor will discuss your past medical history and your current symptoms of low T. They will provide an overview of TRT protocols, treatment options, and patient expectations. They will always listen to you and will also answer any questions you might have. All emails, texts, and videos are HIPAA compliant for your health data privacy. Men who need testosterone and receive TRT say it changes their everyday life!
